

SpyFalcon Removal

SpyFalcon is a relatively new adware program that is particularly nasty. It is designed to display ads on your desktop for its anti-spyware program, a fake piece of software that ironically claims to have found spyware on your system and will remove it for a small sum of money. This article contains instructions on virus removal and cleanup.

SpyFalcon behavior and symptoms

- Pop-up ads will be displayed
- Searches redirected
- Data you are sending over the internet can be stolen and sold · Personal data can be transferred · Windows can crash
- Your system can crash and you might need to reboot

SpyFalcon removal instructions:

- Download SFFix.reg
- Download smitRem.exe to desktop (Credits: noahdfear).
- Launch smitRem.exe.
Click Start
Confirm box "All files have been extracted" by pressing OK
- Reboot into safe mode
- Run SFFix.reg
- Delete folder: “C:\Program Files\SpyFalcon”
- Delete file: “C:\Windows\system32\dxmmp.dll”
- Find the smitRem folder on your desktop and run “RunThis.bat” to start cleaning the SpyFalcon infection.
- Reboot again